What were the Fund costs for the last year?

(based on a hypothetical $10,000 investment)

Fund Name	Costs of a $10,000 investment	Costs paid as a percentage of a $10,000 investment
LSV Global Value Fund, Institutional Class Shares	$102	0.90%

How did the Fund perform in the last year?

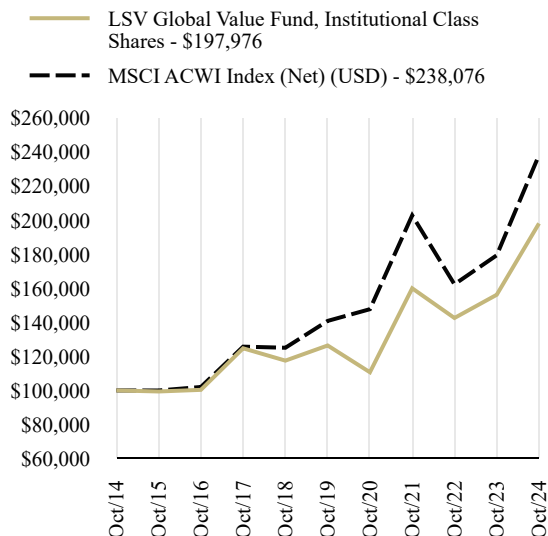

The global equity market as measured by the MSCI ACWI Index (Net) (USD) was up 32.79% for the twelve months ended October 31, 2024. The U.S. stock market continued to lead global equities, with the S&P 500 up 38.02% over the past year. The U.S. market's dominance in global indices increased further, with its weight in the MSCI ACWI Index (Net) (USD) rising to 64% as of October 31, 2024. Enthusiasm for fast-growing businesses, particularly in the technology sector, remained strong. While the market rewarded the mega-cap growth stocks in the period, smaller stocks and value-oriented stocks lagged behind. From a style perspective, value stocks (as measured by the MSCI Indices) underperformed growth—the MSCI AC World Value Index was up 28.19% while the MSCI AC World Growth Index was up 37.22% (both in USD). The LSV Global Value Equity Fund, Institutional Class Shares, was up 26.81% for the period. From a sector perspective, Information Technology, Financials, and Communication Services stocks outperformed while the Energy, Consumer Staples, and Materials sectors lagged.

The Fund's deeper value bias detracted over the period as value stocks lagged meaningfully amidst the market rally. Performance attribution further indicates that both stock and sector selection detracted from portfolio relative returns for the period. Stock selection relative losses were primarily the result of the underperformance of deep value names within the Information Technology, Consumer Discretionary, and Health Care. Within Information Technology, not owning expensive stocks in Semiconductors, and holdings in Communications Equipment subtracted from returns. Within Consumer Discretionary, avoiding expensive stocks in Broadline Retail and Apparel, Accessories & Luxury Goods subtracted from returns. Within Health Care, holdings in Pharmaceuticals and Health Care Distributors subtracted from returns. From a sector perspective, relative losses were largely the result of our underweight positions in the Information Technology and Communication Services sectors as well as our overweight to Energy stocks. Top contributors for the year included our overweight positions in Dell Technologies Inc, Allison Transmission, Mueller Industries, NRG Energy, Flex, Bank of New York Mellon, General Motors, Sylvamo, United Airlines, and Jefferies Financial. Not owning Microsoft, United Health, Nestle, Adobe, Exxon Mobil, LVMH, Nike, Procter & Gamble, Chevron, and PepsiCo also added value. The main individual detractors included our overweight positions in Ironwood Pharmaceuticals, Goodyear Tire & Rubber, GSK, Capri Holdings, Marathon Petroleum, Archer-Daniels-Midland, Comcast, Jabil, Lear, and AGCO. Not owning Nvidia, Taiwan Semiconductor, JP Morgan Chase, Netflix, Amazon, Lilly (Eli), General Electric, Alphabet, Costco Wholesale, and SAP also contributed to losses.

The Fund continues to trade at a significant discount to the overall market as well as to the value benchmark. The Fund is trading at 10.5x forward earnings compared to 19.4x for the MSCI ACWI Index (Net) (USD), 1.6x book value compared to 3.1x for the benchmark and 6.8x cash flow compared to 15.8x for the MSCI ACWI Index (Net) (USD). Sector weightings are a result of our bottom-up stock selection process, subject to constraints at the sector and industry levels. The Fund is currently overweight the Financials, Energy, and Industrials while underweight Information Technology, Communication Services, and Real Estate.

How did the Fund perform during the last 10 years?

Total Return Based on $100,000 Investment

Householding

Rule 30e-1 of the Investment Company Act of 1940 permits funds to transmit only one copy of a proxy statement, annual report or semi-annual report to shareholders (who need not be related) with the same residential, commercial or electronic address, provided that the shareholders have consented in writing and the reports are addressed either to each shareholder individually or to the shareholders as a group. This process is known as "householding" and is designed to reduce the duplicate copies of materials that shareholders receive and to lower printing and mailing costs for funds. Once implemented, if you would like to discontinue householding for your accounts, please call toll-free at 888-386-3578 to request individual copies of these documents. Once the Fund receives notice to stop householding, we will begin sending individual copies 30 days after receiving your request.
